Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 19 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Outbreaks of rain edging eastwards and turning heavy this afternoon.

Today:
Dry start across eastern areas with some sunny spells developing. Cloud and outbreaks of rain across central and western areas moving eastwards to become slow moving this afternoon, with some heavy downpours developing. Turning brighter in western areas.

Tonight:
Heavy, thundery showers in eastern Britain slowly petering out through second half of the night. Elsewhere, mainly dry with some clear spells developing. Chilly compared with recent nights.

Monday:
Further cloud and scattered showers across southeast England with patchy rain into northwestern Britain later. Dry and sunny elsewhere and feeling rather warm. Windy in the north.

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Mostly dry in the south with sunny spells and overnight fog patches. Turning more unsettled and potentially windy elsewhere with rain at times, heaviest and most prolonged in the northwest.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.